

Help Children to Read, Draw, Make Friends and Banish Monsters

From a review by Kelli Junkins on <http://www.2wired2tired.com/monster-on-top-of-the-bed>:

“Last week a new book arrived in the mail... The Monster on Top of the Bed by Alan Jordan.

Avery, age 5, reading the big book.

Since then we have read it so many times that I have lost count. It is now one of those books that you somewhat memorize and can recite without actually reading the pages!

Without giving away too many details, the story is a classic heart-warming monster-under-the-bed start with a fresh perspective of the monster fearing a child and a silly misunderstanding of the dietary habits of main character Suzy. It ends with a new friendship.

The book was good and that is not an understatement. There is nothing like a good book, but it was the silliness of the monster’s interpretation of Suzy and the illustration that really makes the book a winner!

The graphics are great! Bold colors reminiscent of Pixar’s Monsters Inc. ... Overall I have to say that the book was a huge success... especially since all the recent purchases at the school book fair have been totally ignored since this book came in the mail!”

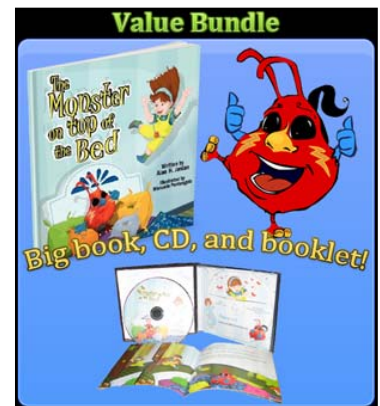

Grant, age 7 reading the booklet while Avery, age 5 reads the big book.
